We report for the first time an electrolytic micropump based on an electrode chip fabricated on a printed circuit board (PCB), and compare its performance with that of a micropump based on an electrode chip fabricated using conventional microfabrication. Gold interdigitated (IDT) electrodes are patterned on a PCB to minimize ohmic loss during electrolysis.

1. Introduction. Numerous neurological diseases demonstrate a major impact on nutrition and the nutritional state of affected patients. In addition to paralysis, immobility, abnormal motor function and various neuropsychological disturbances, it is oropharyngeal dysphagia that exerts the most profound impact on nutritional intake.

If the wrong pump is chosen or is worn out, this can increase pumping costs and reduce productivity. In the second of a series of fact sheets, the NSW Department of Primary Industries describes a simple way to work out the pumping costs and energy efficiency of your electric pump. Tests of irrigation pumps across New South Wales have found [...]
